DETAILED ACTION

1. This is in response to applicant's amendment received on 11/27/02.

Election/Restrictions

2. Claim 8 is withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b) as being drawn to a nonelected embodiment, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Election was made without traverse in Paper No. 9 and 11.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. Claims 1-7, 9-16 and 17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Behmel et al. (foreign patent no. DE 4327466 A1).

Behmel discloses (Fig. 1-21) the invention including perforating cylinders 5-6, perforating tools 16, perforating strips 18, perforating bars 19, a cylinder shaft 58, 80, mounting supports 91-92, transmission elements (see Fig. 4, 10, 12, 16, 20), coulisse or slotted guide (see Fig. 20), transmission point/toothings 38-46, 54-55, a compensating device and mounting supports (see Fig. 4, 14 and 16).

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant argues that Behmel et al. do not show "said at least one perforating bar being adjustable relative to a periphery of said perforating cylinders, at least one of said perforating cylinders adjustable in relation to said perforating nip relative to at least another of said perforating cylinders". The examiner considers that Behmel et al. teach said at least one perforating bar being adjustable relative to a periphery of said perforating cylinders, at least one of said perforating cylinders adjustable in relation to said perforating nip (see Fig. 17) relative to at least another of said perforating cylinders". Also, a recitation of the intended use of the claimed invention must result in a structural difference between the claimed invention and the prior art in order to patentably distinguish the claimed invention from the prior art. If the prior art structure is capable of performing the intended use, then it meets the claim. In a claim drawn to a process of making, the intended use must result in a manipulative difference as compared to the prior art. See In re Casey, 152 USPQ 235 (CCPA 1967) and In re Otto, 136 USPQ 458, 459 (CCPA 1963).

Conclusion

6. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within

TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
